

This is the basic figure you must have before you start drawing the body. It's really easy. First, you draw a straight line and then with you pencil, make dark dots at the joints. After you have done these, circle out the important parts like the shoulder, elbow, knee and hand. After that, you need to draw out the chest. Chest is really to draw, you just have to draw out two brackets in horizontal way . Next you need to draw out the hip. Just do a rough sketch, you no need to pay much on detail in this step. Drawing a hip, it's a triangular shape and so, I think you won't have trouble drawing that..

If you have done the previous steps correctly and you wouldn't have problem doing this step. You just have to join up the line ^-^.. Try to imagine the chest as boxes.. Hard and strong.. Draw two boxes to form the shape of the chest... Just keep in your mind, you must keep the proportion right.. Or else It won't look right. If you have problem keeping the proportion right, you might need more practice.. ^-^

Erase all guiding lines and add detail to it. And you are done.. ^-^
Congratulation.

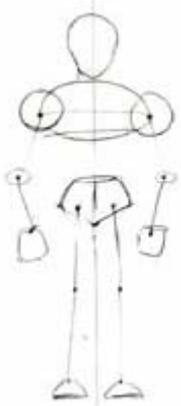

Actually, drawing side view anime is similar of drawing the front view anime. Try to imagine a anime, standing in side view in your mind. This will really help. hee. Same steps, first draw a straight line and then draw the head.. Use you pencil mark out black dots at every joints. Join up the black dots. Next, circle the important parts of the joints. (the shoulder, elbow and knee) Remember to bend your elbow a bit. After that, draw out his chest and his hip. You don't need to pay special attention on detail.. You can do it latter on.

Okay, this step is pretty easy to do it.. Use over shape to represent the muscles group.. Join up the lines and a basic figure is formed.

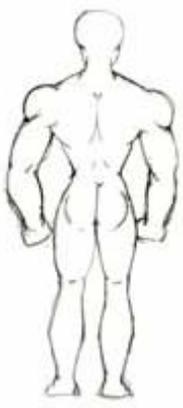

Erase all guiding lines and add detail to him and you are done.. ^-^

Drawing anime's back is easy. Okay.. You need to have this basic structure before you start. Again, draw a straight line. Next, use your pencil to mark black dots at the joints. These little dots act as an guiding marks.. After you have marked the dots, circle the important parts of the body: the shoulder, elbow and knee(oops.. I forgot to circle the knee `^-^). Keep in mind, this is a anime's back view.. Don't get mixed up with front view.

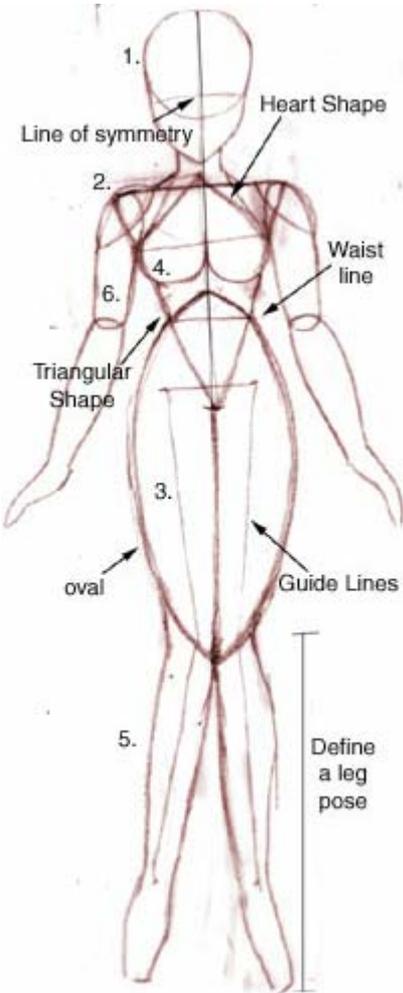

Now use over shape to represent the muscles group. This time, the back is drawn in a shape of "triangle" shape.. Not exactly a "triangle".. Their edges are rounder.

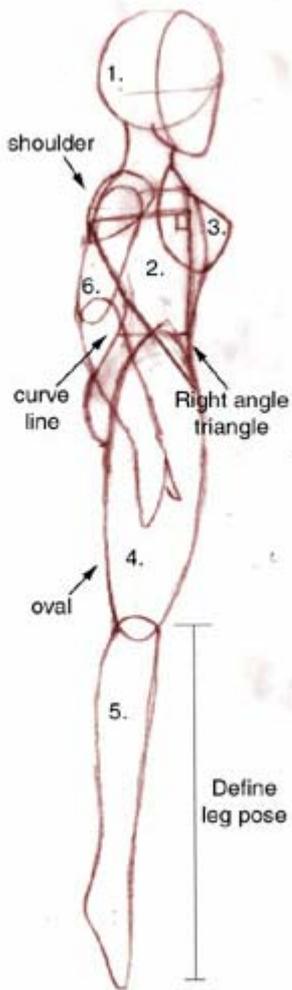

Erase all guiding line and add detail to it and you are done. ^-^
